SHANGHAI FIRE BRIGADE

WELL KNOWN OFFICER
DROWNED

SHANGHAI, July 21.
The second member of his family to suffer a tragic death Sub-Officer J. B. O'Reilly Coleman of the Shanghai Fire Brigade met his death from drowning at Pootoo on Friday, according to reports received in Shanghai yesterday.

Spending his annual short leave away from Shanghai in the quiet seclusion of the Sacred Island, Mr. Coleman only enjoyed his holiday for five days before succumbing to the dangerous currents of the bathing benches at Pootoo.

Details of his death are lacking at present, but will be furnished, it is expected, when the steamer from Pootoo arrives to-day, bringing with it Mr. Coleman's holiday companions.

Three Friends.

Mr. Coleman was accompanied by two of his friends, Detective-Sergeant Hedley Jones, of the Finger-Print Bureau, S.M.P., and Detective-Sergeant H. F. Gill, of Bubbling Well Police Station. The three took with them their own servant and supply of food, because of the rules of the Buddhist Temple, at which they were spending their holiday.

Officials of H.M. Consulate General have been informed of the tragedy, it is understood, and are opening an investigation.

Brother's Death.

Mr. J. B. O'Reilly Coleman arrived in Shanghai on December 9, 1928, to join the Shanghai Municipal Police, together with his brother, Mr. Walter Blake O'Reilly Coleman.

On January 28, seven weeks after he had joined the Police, Probationary-Sergeant W.B.O. Coleman died as the result of a tragic accident in the Gordon Road gymnasium, which occurred on January 23.

While attempting the "flying-roll" he failed to spring high enough, and his legs struck the horse, with the result that it toppled over on top of him. He was taken to the Country Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a fractured skull. At first he did well, but inflammation of the brain set in, and he died on January 28.—N.C.D.V.

SIR OLIVER LODGE AND THE FUTURE

NEXT WORLD ACTIVITY.

A world of the distant future in which human bodies may dematerialise at death, the atoms separating and spontaneously appearing from our ken, is envisaged by Sir Oliver Lodge in a book which called "My Philosophy" (Benn, 21s), which represents the author's views on the functions of the ether of space (the space-time continuum).

The spiritistic hypothesis given in the book is that "we are spirits here and now," operating on material bodies.

"Our real existence does not depend on association with matter. . . . We demonstrate ourselves to our fellows only by means of the material organisms that we have unconsciously constructed and utilised for the purpose. Hence if the organism is damaged our manifestation becomes imperfect, and if the damage is serious we may have to quit the organism and remain normally dissociated from matter. Our activities, on this theory, are supposed to go on as before, but now presumably in space."

"Which leads on to Sir Oliver's view of the next world."

"Perhaps the next world is not the remotely dignified, continuously religious place we have been inclined to think. . . . I do not expect to be much surprised when I get there. So far as it goes, the testimony is in favour of a still continuing, full-bodied existence, not, indeed, of matter, but of something else, which, although it does not appeal to our present senses, is otherwise equally real, equally substantial; free and less hampered than it seems to be; but not revolutionarily different."

SOVIET-ITALIAN SHIPPING

An agreement has been signed here with an Italian steamship company, "Italoventura," providing for a regular shipping service between Soviet ports on the Black Sea and western Italian ports also Malta, Marseilles, Barcelona, and Valencia.

She: "The man I marry must be as brave as a lion, but not forward, handsome as Apollo, but not conceited; wise as Solomon, but meek as a lamb; a man who is kind to every woman, but loves only me." London Standard.

respects deploring the sweeping changes he has witnessed in social life. Indeed, in his chapters on "Youth" and "The Old Order Changes" he looks round with good humour and optimism on a society so different from that in which he and most of the persons described in this book were brought up. But the social changes which he notes are mentioned by him mainly in order to provide points of comparison in appreciating the lives or achievements of some notable persons whom he has known personally and studied. He points out, for example, how different the attitude of a statesman to politics was likely to be when he was independent of office, as Lord Salisbury was, as regards his status and his stake in the country. "Through the years which intervened between retirement from public life and the quiet surrender of life itself Lord Salisbury's influence and prestige proclaimed the powerful and benevolent aristocrat no less than when he held the seals of office." Sir Arthur presents to us an admirable sketch of "great Conservatives, in the sense that he wanted to preserve certain great things such as the Church."

THE PRINCE AND EMPIRE GOLFERS.

NANKING'S NEW COURT

Functions Explained

REDRESS AGAINST GOVERNMENT ACTION

Nanking, July 29.—In connection with the new Administrative Court, Mr. Mao Tsu Chuan, President of the Court, in an interview with a Kuo Min correspondent, pointed out that the new Court was essentially a machinery for the redress of wrongs done to private individuals by Government administrative organs.

Although the new Court was similar in nature to the Administrative Court under the former Peking régime, there was one important difference in that while the old Court was invested also with the power of meeting out disciplinary punishment to delinquent officials, the new Court does not possess this power.

Continuing, Mr. Mao pointed out that all the necessary legislation regarding the organization of the new Court and the procedure to be followed in its proceedings had been promulgated by the National Government; the Administrative Procedure Law having formally come into effect on June 23, 1933, the day on which the new Court was inaugurated.

Regarding the internal organization of the Court, Mr. Mao said that the Court would be composed of two chambers, each consisting of five judges. He himself would head one of these two chambers, while a presiding judge would be placed at the head of the other.

Mr. Mao further pointed out that the decisions of the Court would be binding upon the Government organ concerned. There would be no appeal against the decisions of the Court; though, under certain prescribed circumstances, the party concerned might ask for a retrial.

Petitions Already In.

Mr. Mao intimated that although the Court was inaugurated only a month ago, a number of petitions had already been received. However as most of these actions were not in conformity with the prescribed procedure, they could not be entertained or immediately dealt with until rectified.

In this connection, it may be noted that contrary to popular misconception, the new Administrative Court does not have original jurisdiction over complaints against the illegal actions of Government organs. According to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Law, which governs the procedure to be followed by the new Court, proceedings in this Court may be instituted only after all the prescribed means of redress provided by the law of petition have been exhausted.

According to the law of petition, any private individual, whose rights have been illegally encroached upon by a Government administrative organ, may petition the responsible superior (i.e. immediately higher) Government organ for redress.

If the decision is considered unsatisfactory, the aggrieved party may further appeal to the next superior Government organ.

Should the latter fail to render a decision within thirty days from the date of the second appeal or should the decision rendered under the second appeal be still considered unsatisfactory, the party concerned may, in the last resort, institute proceedings in the Administrative Court against the Government organ complained of.

Court of Last Resort.

It will be seen thus that although the new Court appears to be one of original jurisdiction, it is really in the nature of a Court of last resort or final appeal in complaints against Government organs, as an action in this new Court can be entertained or tried only after two appeals have been made to the superior Government organs with unsatisfactory results.

Another feature of the procedure of the new Court is, that where actual damages have been caused by the illegal action of a Government organ, the aggrieved party may demand compensation, besides nullification of the administrative action complained of. In such cases, the Court may award pecuniary damages to the complainant.

Where the new Court renders a decision in favour of a complaint, the Court will petition the National Government, through the Judicial Yuan, to nullify the administrative action complained of, and where damages are awarded, to order the said Government organ to pay such damages.

NANKING AND FENG YU HSIANG

Canton's Support of the Christian Gen.

CHIANG KAI SHEK'S NEW ARMY

CANTON, July 29. Owing to the tense situation in Charhar and North China, the Southwest Political Council called a special meeting yesterday morning to discuss these urgent problems. Members attending the meeting were Hsiao Fu Chen, Teng Tse Ju, Chow Lu, Chen Chi Tang, Li Chung Jen, Lin Yun Kai and Tang Shao Yi. The latter arrived here Friday morning from Tang Chia Wan, Chungshan.

In an interview, Mr. Chow Lu, a leading member of the Council, stated that General Chiang Kai Shek, chairman of the Nanking military commission, has not in the least given up his intention to subjugate the people's anti-Japanese allied forces in Charhar, but, on account of the doubtful attitude of several Nanking divisions, a general offensive has been delayed. Mr. Chow said that many of the soldiers sent to attack Charhar are reluctant to start another civil war.

Telegrams are received every day from General Feng Yu Hsiang and Fang Chen Wu concerning their plans and movements. Mr. Chow said, and it is expected that their forces will march farther afield reconquering invaded territories.

The Coral Islands.

With respect to the French occupation of the Coral Islands, Mr. Chow averred that the matter has been referred to the Kwangtung Provincial Government which may or may not take up the matter in conjunction with the inspector general of foreign affairs.

Mr. Chow confirmed the recent report that the three gunboats Yang Hsiang, Chu Yu and Hai Ou are coming south but was not aware of their whereabouts at the present moment. It is reported that the three gunboats have reached a certain point and may come to Canton at any time.—Central Press.

CHIANG KAI SHEK'S PLANS

SHANGHAI, July 29.

It was learned to-day from authoritative sources that General Chiang Kai Shek, chairman of the Nanking military commission, is putting off immediate military action against General Feng Yu Hsiang and those factions opposing his Nanking administration.

Meanwhile, General Chiang will push on with his scheme to train 180 new regiments and will await the arrival of new armaments from foreign countries. The last shipment of armaments will arrive at Nanking in October when the new regiments will be ready to take the field. By then General Chiang will be in a position to put down any opposition easily and swiftly.—Central Press.

National Salvation Association.

SHANGHAI, July 29.

The National Salvation Association held a meeting here yesterday in the restaurant of Sun Sun Department Store, Nanking Road, at which representatives from 100 public bodies and 200 persons took part, to express opposition to Nanking using force to invade Charhar. The Association passed the following resolutions:

- (1) That a telegram be sent to Mr. Lin Sen, chairman of the National Government, protesting the use of force to attack General Feng Yu Hsiang.
- (2) That General Yen Hsi Shan be urged to co-operate with General Feng for the recovery of lost territory.
- (3) And that General Sun Tien Ying be urged to take the same step.—Central Press.

pay such damages.

It will be seen, therefore, that the general intention is to provide common-sense methods of securing redress against Government organs, while the new Court will assure to an aggrieved citizen a final and impartial review and adjudication of his charges. The procedure is calculated to ensure to the public more prompt and reasonable consideration of complaints lodged with and against Government organs, since officials will be made to realize that final recourse to the Administrative Court can always be had by the people.—Kuo Min.

"A WOMAN COM-MANDS"

POLA NEGRI'S RETURN TO THE FILM

"A Woman Commands" will open at the Central Theatre on Wednesday.

This is the RKO Radio picture which marks the return to the screen of one of its greatest favorites, Pola Negri.

Three years ago, when she was at the very peak of her fame, Miss Negri deserted the screen to return to Europe. Tiring of idleness she finally accepted the offer to reappear on the talking screen.

Miss Negri had devoted a great deal of time to perfecting her command of English. To make certain of its adequacy she stipulated that she would not sign a talking picture contract until she had refaced
it with a London stage engagement.

In this she scored a triumph. A three weeks engagement prolonged itself into a run of three months before the British would permit
her to take a farewell bow and sail for America.

Advance reports indicate that Pola has never before been as superb as in "A Woman Commands." Those who have heard it are enthusiastic about the piquant Negri accent, which, while not detracting from perfect command of English, adds a distinctly interesting note to her personality.

The story written by Thilde Forster with Miss Negri in mind, is said to suit the fiery star to the smallest detail.

Appearing with Miss Negri is a cast of talented and popular players. Basil Rathbone, handsome romantic actor, and Roland Young exponent of subtly sophisticated comedy, have the leading roles opposite the star. Others of note who fill important roles are H. B.
Warner, Anthony Bushell, Reginald
Owen, May Boley and Frank Reicher.

Paul I. Stein, responsible for many screen successes, directed
"A Woman Commands." Horace Jackson, who is credited with the dialogue for "Holiday," "Rebound" and "Devotion" prepared the adaptation.

Parrott, Polan Banks and Sophie Kerr.

The action of "The Woman Accused" centres around Miss Carroll, who, on the eve of her marriage to Cary Grant, is confronted by a former lover, who demands that she return to him. She refuses flatly. Infuriated and hysterical, he telephones a gangster acquaintance, and attempts to order him to put Grant "on the spot." But before he can even mention the latter's name, Miss Carroll, in desperation, has hit him over the head with the nearest object—a bronze figurine. Horrified, she finds she has killed him.

With Grant, she flees aboard an ocean vessel on a week-end "cruise to nowhere." Halliday, a friend of the slain man, follows, and attempts to secure evidence incriminating her. He is almost successful, but Grant, in a dramatic climax, frees her of all guilt and carries her off to safety.

"WILD GIRL"
CALIFORNIA IN GOLD
RUSH DAYS

Presenting a picture of California in the days of the gold rush along with an unusual romance of that colorful period, "Wild Girl" opens at the King's Theatre on Thursday, with Charles Farrell,
Joan Bennett and Ralph Bellamy
in the leading roles. Raoul Walsh is said to have set a new standard in bringing a bygone era to the speaking screen with this adaptation of Bret Harte's famous story,
"Salomy Jane's Kiss."

The story deals with the coming
to a remote mining camp of a mysterious stranger in Confederate uniform, with a secret purpose of his own. His arrival awakens the interest of the camp's belle, Salomy Jane, a high-spirited and rather madcap daughter of the South,
who heretofore has had no patience
with the pleas of her various suits. When the stranger kills the camp's leading politician, the Vigilantes start after him, and despite the girl's efforts, he is captured, and sentenced to hang.

At the last minute the stranger escapes, with the posse and especially one rejected suitor hot on his trail, and matters reach a gripping crisis when Salomy Jane tries to aid him in getting away. How she effects this, with the help of the camp's leading gambler, forms the denouement of the story.

Miss Bennett's part is far re-
with the pleas of her various characterizations, and Farrell's departure from this customary society roles is equally notable. Both players are said to reveal hitherto unsuspected talents in their work,
and the support of Ralph Bellamy
as the big-hearted gambler, Eugene Pallette as a swaggering statecoach driver, Irving Pichel as the ven-erful suitor and Minna Gombell as a dance-hall girl has been specially planned to enhance the performance of the principals.

The photography and the settings
are likewise said to be unusual.
With the exception of a few brief sequences made at the studio, nearly all of the picture was filmed amid the stately grandeur of the "giant forest" in Sequoia National Park on the slopes of the California Sierras within a few miles of the exact local of Harte's story.
These vast trees and the snow-
capped peaks beyond them constitute a background rarely found on the screen.

"Wild Girl" is Walsh's first production in nearly a year, and represents more than a year's preparatory work. Doris Anderson and Edwin Justus Mayer
wrote the screen play and Lemist Esler directed the dialogue during the making of the picture.

"It's so hard to find what you want when one is shopping," sighed the wife.
"Especially when you don't know what you want," agreed the husband.

"DEVIL WITH WOMAN"
AT THE ORIENTAL

With Victor McLaglen is again in khaki, this time as a captain in the forces of a little Central American republic during a revolutionary uprising, "A Devil With Women" now showing at the Oriental Theatre. Adventure, excitement and romance abound in the film, with the rivalry between the soldier and a young tourist as the basis for the swift moving story and a jail break and a vicious attack on a hacienda by a group of bandits as the outstanding thrills.

Mona Maris, Humphrey Bogart
and Luana Alcaniz have the principal supporting roles in this recommended offering, which Irving Cummings directed for Fox Movie-tone.

"SONG OF THE EAGLE"
AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE

Song of the Eagle was well received by the theatre going public yesterday afternoon as evidenced by the bumper house at the Queen's. The cast is good and the story depicts the state of things in America ever since prohibition has been "enforced." It is a bold sweeping drama of two decades of American history, and deals with the conditions up to the present time. As the story opens we see the Hoffmann family celebrating the admittance of August Hoffmann as a partner in the brewery. War is declared and prohibition is enforced, which means the brewery is closed thereby entailing a great

"GOOD NIGHT VIENNA"

Litling Viennese melody, tender romance in leafy arbour, rollicking Hussar comedy and whimsical flirtation—that is "Good Night Vienna," will be showing at the Oriental Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

It is incidentally, quite one of the most charming pictures, and one of the most polished technical achievements that British and Dominions have turned out, and backed by an alluring title a popular stellar personality and haunting music that has already become familiar to the British public, suggest that showmen will reap a golden harvest when "Good Night Vienna," is due for release. It is finely served by the attractive char-acterisation of Max by Jack Buchanan, and of Viki by Anna Neagle.

loss to the Hoffmanns. The boys go to war and August gets killed.
Bill meets Mary Brain the pretty stenographer and the young couple decide to marry in spite of economic conditions.

Nails, who was employed as a truck driver, buys the Hoffmann home and starts the boot legging racket. When the Hoffmanns start out again and try to put their bear on the market, Nails fires on their trucks, and then trouble starts. There is great deal of shooting and several are killed, but in the end Nails gets his due and he is found murdered, but no one is closed thereby entailing a great

Srs.—At the Peninsula Hotel
last night there were probably only a scant 100 people mostly comprising French, Portuguese and Chinese.

In Tokyo she packed the Imperial Theatre night after night at 6 Yen a seat, and yet Hong Kong gives her very little attention.

Two or three years ago when I was in Madrid staying at an hotel
—800 rooms, 800 baths with French cuisine—I tried to find something entirely Spanish in the town. Finally on calling on an old friend in the Bank and asking him where I could get some real Spanish food and see some real Spanish dancing
he replied "You will have to go back to New York."

There has probably never been an artists in Hong Kong of equal rank since Heifetz. Certainly she is just as interesting as Argentina.
The Bull fight and the Peasant dance are at least worth the price of the admission.

Don't miss it.

ECHOES OF 1858

30.—First Newspaper Report of Legislative Council Meetings

Pursuant to adjournment from the 13th the Council met on Saturday, the 28th instant, at 12. The members present were the Lieut. Governor, the acting Colonial Secretary, the Attorney General, the Colonial Treasurer, the Surveyor General, the Chief Magistrate and the Hon. Messrs. Dent and Lyall.

The Governor was absent from indisposition. His place was occupied by the Lieut. Governor, who, before the proceedings concluded, was compelled from the same cause to resign his seat; when, to prevent an adjournment, at the suggestion of the Attorney General, the Council went into Committee, the Chief Justice presiding.

For the first time since the date of its constitution, the meeting was attended by members of the Press. The China Mail and the Daily Press were the only journals that availed themselves of the privilege.

The order of the day was moved for taking evidence on the question of the amalgamation of the two branches of the legal profession.

Messrs. Parsons, Stoes and Hazell appeared as a deputation from the Law Society.
(Here follow a full report of the day's proceedings.)

REGARDING OURSELVES.

July 2nd, 1858.

The community of Hong Kong would (doubtless) be startled yesterday at the altered appearance and increased dimensions of the Daily Press. In the course of nine months the banting has outgrown its clothes. Its stupid parents procured a new suit, which to their bewilderment has proved much too small for its gigantic limbs.

Modesty appears to be their habitual failing, but it is competent for them to plead inexperience as an excuse, as this is the first child they have had to appear. We trust that our manners will improve with our appearance, and that our growth will continue with our age. We hope that when we shall no longer be regarded as interlopers our contemporaries will hesitate to condemn our advice as valueless and condescend to pursue that course which has contributed to our signal success.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The following is taken from our advertisement column of 1858:—

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAIT ROOMS.

Mr. NEWMAN begs to inform the public of Hong Kong that he has just arrived at Macao from Madras, Singapore and Manila, and is now prepared to take Portraits by the new Electro Ethers and Glycerine process which for style and tone of execution cannot be surpassed by any taken in England, France or America.

Likenesses daily taken in all weathers, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sundays excepted.

N.B.—Daguerreotypes, Paintings, Drawings, etc., copied. A cloudy day is quite as favourable as clear weather. In dress avoid White, Light Blue and Light Pink.—Mr. Newman would recommend a dark dress.

Mr. Newman in soliciting the inspection of the public to his Portraits, begs to draw attention to the fact, that his scale of charge places them within the reach of all.

PACIFICATION OF MOROCCO

France Pushing Forward GREAT COLONISATION WORK

Tangier.—The British policy in India can scarcely be said to have achieved a striking success. The French, no doubt profiting by our mistakes, have approached the problem of dealing with alien subjects in a different manner.

When shooting has been necessary to subdue a recalcitrant people, they have not hesitated to shoot. But, submission made, former enemies become citizens of France, members of the Republic, with rights as great as their conquerors themselves possess.

In the cafes in Morocco the dirtiest Arab boy will deposit his unpleasant person in a chair opposite one of the ruling race. They all expect to shake hands with the white man, and no effort is made by the Arab police to keep the impertinence of the native children within bounds.

The pacification of Morocco has been accomplished with great skill and success, although the French have always been faced by great difficulties. In the north the Riff people, brave and warlike and regarding the Spaniards with amused contempt, have for years been a menace to the safety of the French border. In the South the Berbers, equally warlike, have after suffering defeat, been able to withdraw into the Spanish country and thus prevent the lesson from being driven home.

Blossoming Desert.

Every year the French push further forward and by making new roads pacify new areas. In the South the Partisans and the Cavalry of the Legion the spearhead of the French attack have reached Akka and Haka in the anti-Atlas, and the next campaign will, it is anticipated, finish with the dissidents there once and for all. It is amazing in how short a time large tracts of country have first been pacified, then developed and finally colonised.

Perhaps it is in the actual colonisation that the genius of the French rises to its supreme heights. Remarkable as agriculturists they have made the desert blossom like the rose and the way they have triumphed over the difficulties and hardships is entirely extraordinary. Same joy of life and a most healthy interest in food and drink sustain them under any conditions.

The Riffs are perhaps, the most interesting of all the people of Morocco, combining as they do considerable culture with an extraordinary aptitude for war. Their country, which is in the Spanish zone, has never been fully explored, and it is interesting to speculate what may one day be found behind those bare and barren hills.

The most important town and seat of the Spanish High Commissioner is Tetuan, one of the three towns, with Rabat and Fez, where tradition states, the wise and the learned may live. But the most interesting is the old forbidden city of Xauen, which was built by those Moors whom Ferdinand and Isabella expelled from Spain.

It was on the Tetuan-Xauen road that General Silvestre's force of 20,000 men was exterminated by the Riffs. Half Spain mourned the dead, and a powder trail was laid which led to the Spanish Revolution.

To-day, Xauen can be visited in comfort and safety, and anyone can see this Riff town which is in appearance exactly like Granada.

Surface Quiet.

All is quiet and peaceful now, for the Riffs, only a little people, suffered terrible losses during the Franco-Spanish campaign, which ended in the defeat of Abd-el-Krim, and were moreover subsequently completely disarmed, being not even allowed to wear a dagger. The Spaniards would give much to leave the country, particularly to their army, since the revolution, ceased to be of the slightest value, but political complications caused by their departure would be so great that other countries are extremely anxious that they should remain.

parents, spent another on lessons in English, and used a dollar a month on himself. Before he was forty he was worth a million taels. That was twenty years ago.

He invested his fortune in lands in the Settlement which appreciated in value enormously. He brought all his family, parents, uncles, grandparents, etc., to Shanghai. And then, true to the traditions of his country, he became a student of the Chinese classics.

If western science was the primary cause of the wealth accumulated by this splendid worker, is it improbable that his endeavour to spread a knowledge of the classics of China will give something to Europe? A new world civilisation is evolving before our eyes. It is being built upon the secure foundations of scientific knowledge. It is putting power behind the worker, it is increasing leisure. And it will succeed or fail according to how that leisure is employed.

SHANGHAI OF TODAY

FUSION OF IDEAS FROM EUROPE AND ASIA

(Professor C. A. Middleton Smith of Hong Kong University writes the following article on his impressions of Shanghai as it is to-day, to the North China Daily News.)

"That's all very well, but is it any better than it used to be?" said the old resident in Shanghai.

We were lounging in basket chairs on the verandah of the Country Club, watching young and vigorous Europeans chasing elusive tennis balls. The elderly taipei doubted the advantages of scientific progress. He could not deny the increase in size and wealth of Shanghai. But he found it difficult to adjust himself to the changes in business and social life.

Stories of day's recent researches into local industrial developments, my enthusiasm for what seems to me to be vast improvements in Shanghai since my first visit twenty-one years ago, failed to inspire favourable comments from my friend. He had seen the changes taking place over thirty odd years. He had grown in wealth and in weight. He surely should have been grateful for the rapid economic progress in Shanghai and proud of this unique city!

The Old Lounging.

But he was not really happy about it. He spoke, in a sentimental manner, about his younger days out here, of the spacious times when the Country Club really was in the country, of holidays in houseboats when there was ample leisure and no bandits, and of dignified evening dinners in private houses set in spacious grounds. The noise of public meals and parties in clubs, hotels and cabarets worried him. He wanted quiet.

He listened patiently to my suggestions that the main cause of the wealth now centred in Shanghai is the new knowledge of science. Mechanical devices and unflinching electrical power have attracted capital and labour and so have multiplied the value of land and of property. In the early days there was only manpower. No steel structures and reinforced concrete buildings. No mills, and machine-production factories.

Wealth and Efficiency.

Twenty years ago the demand for electricity in Shanghai was trivial as compared with the output from the generating station to-day, and now one pound of coal produces twice as much electrical energy as in 1913. And so production costs in the factories have been reduced. That is why Shanghai has become such an important manufacturing centre.

A Romantic Story.

Shanghai may easily become the most populous city in the world within fifty years. Factories are springing up in increasing numbers. Labourers are daily leaving villages and fields because of the stories of wealth to be won in Shanghai. So the population grows.

A few days ago a young Chinese told us a "work will win" tale of his father, who came to this European city from the country where he lived in poverty.

He was employed at the age of thirteen, in Shanghai, at a dollar per month plus board and lodging. When his wages were increased to three dollars he sent one of them hundreds of miles away to his parents.

TYPHOON STRIKES COAST NEAR HOIHOW

S.S. RANPURA ENCOUNTERS
"PRECIPITOUS" SEAS

COLONY ESCAPES DAMAGE: WIND
MAXIMUM 67 M.P.H.

Hong Kong was decidedly fortunate in not getting the full force of the typhoon which appears to have been a severe one. For a long time it headed straight for the Colony, but passed well to the South of us on Saturday night.

From the Royal Observatory we learn that at 2 p.m. yesterday information was received from Hoihow Observatory to the effect that the barometer there was down to 29.39 and the wind, South East direction, was blowing at Force 12. Rain was also falling. The typhoon evidently struck the coast in that vicinity.

"The lowest barometer reading was reported from the s.s. Ranpura which left here for Singapore at noon on Saturday and appears to have met with the full force of the storm. At 3 a.m. when her position was 18.58 N., 112.15 E., her barometer read 28.61, the wind, W.S.W., was logged at 10, and the seas laconically described as "precipitous." A later message from the Ranpura, at 9 a.m. on Sunday, showed that the barometer had risen to 29.33 and the wind had dropped to Force 8, with squalls and heavy seas.

Here in Hong Kong no serious damage was done; the maximum wind force was 67 m.p.h. and 2.26 inches of rain were recorded up to 4 p.m.

Unlike most of its kind the typhoon did not wholly wash out Saturday's sports, and the bowls programme was successfully completed, except for two matches. No. 1 signal was hoisted at 11.30 p.m. on Friday and by 6 a.m. on Saturday the typhoon was judged to be 250 miles E.S.E. of Hong Kong and heading for the Colony. The junk people fully expected trouble and the shelters were full and the harbour empty by about 11 a.m. At 11.30 a.m. No. 7 signal was hoisted. The morning was hot and overpowering with occasional sunshine. This continued till 5 p.m. when gusty squalls, winds and occasional showers commenced. The wind increased steadily and after a stormy night, No. 7 signal was still seen to be at the masthead yesterday morning.

Residents of the Colony who could see over the Harbour were, however, reassured to see the s.s. President Grant quietly berthing at Kowloon wharves at about 9 a.m.—a sure indication that the worst was over.

The worst, in fact, had been experienced at about 2 a.m. and at 11.30 a.m. the warning signals were lowered. The rainfall was less than might have been supposed; the figures for the twenty-four hours ending at 10.30 a.m. yesterday being 2.18 inches. The occasional showers which fell between that time and the afternoon only totalled 0.09 inches.

During the whole of Sunday, the high wind with alternate showers and bright sunshine, characteristic of the tail of a typhoon, were experienced. The weather was noticeably cooler and the Colony very much "freshened" by the blow. The temperature of 87 degrees at 2 p.m. on Saturday fell to 80 degrees at 10 a.m. yesterday, but there was a rise to 84 degrees by 4 p.m. On the 30th the highest temperature was 92 degrees, and the lowest 73 degrees.

Another Typhoon?

Meanwhile another typhoon is reported from Manila, roughly 15 degrees North, 120 East, travelling W.N.W. The position, at the time of writing, is about 200 miles East of Manila.

In the City.

The usual "typhoon" atmosphere was evident in the city during the week end. Motor cars, especially public cars, travelled about with their hoods secured by ropes. The weather undoubtedly kept many people at home who might otherwise have frequented the cinemas and cabarets and although it would not be correct to say that the city presented a deserted appearance on Saturday night, it was evident that there were very much fewer people about than usual. Those who stayed out after 11 p.m. had a taste of the heavy showers that really commenced from that hour. Over in the peninsula the K.O.C. concert was abandoned, and at Kennedy Town the swimming gala arranged by the Chung Shing Club was also cancelled.

On the whole, comparatively little damage was done in the city.

Like the town, the outlying parts of the Island were not much affected by the typhoon and bathers at Repulse Bay and Stanley were not deprived of their Sunday swim, especially those who did not mind a little buffeting from the waves. The water was fresh and cool, and a dip proved unusually enjoyable. The mats at Repulse Bay survived the "blow" without any casualties and there was practically no sign that a typhoon had narrowly missed the Island.

As was to be expected many "waterfalls" were passed on a drive round the Island. One or two small landslides have occurred but they were not big enough to cause any permanent obstruction to the main motor roads. At a point between Stanley and Tytam, there was a heavy slide of mud and stones which, fortunately just missed landing on the road.

Tytam Filling Up.

Tytam Reservoir, thanks to the continued rainfall, is rapidly filling up, heavy streams pouring in from the several catchwaters. Although there is no immediate prospect of its overflowing, the water situation must have been considerably improved by the recent rainfall, and the water is only a matter of twelve to fifteen feet below Tytam's overflow mark, and the level is gradually rising.

The Junk People.

Although the floating population had had ample warning, stories of narrow escapes have been received locally from several directions. In Aberdeen, two small sampans capsized on Saturday, while making for shelter, and the occupants were only rescued after they had been floating in the water for some time, clinging to their overturned boats.

Although the main fishing fleet was not out during the worst "part" of the blow, there were nevertheless fishing boats at sea during the week-end and their fate will not be known until reports come dribbling in during the week.

The River Boats.

The river boats left Canton at 4 p.m. on Saturday but at about 7 p.m. they decided to drop anchor and take refuge off Tiger Island and await further advices from Hong Kong before continuing their voyage. There were altogether four of them under way, the s.s. Taishan, s.s. Sai On, s.s. Kwangtung and s.s. Hangchow. The Sai On was the first to arrive in port, getting alongside her wharf shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday but the Taishan and the others decided to wait a little longer before continuing on their voyage and arrived here at about 2.15 p.m.

It will be recalled that the same thing happened on September 17, last when a typhoon threatened the Colony. The afternoon boats from Canton all dropped anchor off Tiger Island but on that occasion the voyage down was not continued until about 2 p.m. with the result that they did not get here until about 5 p.m. the following day, thus taking about 28 hours for the trip.

tor of the Royal Observatory, Mr. C. F. Jeffries, F.R.A.S., states:—

The typhoon developed in the Pacific to the east of the Philippines during July 26th and 27th, and at 6 a.m. on July 28th was situated about 200 miles east of North Luzon. It moved on a W.N.W. track, passing about 40 miles to the south of Fratas Shoal at 2 p.m. on the 29th. From about 5 p.m. the track became westerly and the rate of progress accelerated considerably, the typhoon passing about 80 miles south of Gap Rock at 10 p.m. At 6 a.m. on Sunday morning it was situated about 150 miles S.S.W. of Hong Kong, moving westward towards Hainan.

In Hong Kong the wind freshened from N.E. on Saturday afternoon at 5 p.m. and continued with squalls of gale force until 9 a.m. on Sunday, moderating gradually afterwards. The lowest reading of the barometer was 29.46 ins. at 8 p.m. on Saturday. The wind reached gale force at Gap Rock at 8 p.m. on Saturday evening, and continued until 7 a.m. on Sunday.

The maximum wind force in Hong Kong was 67 miles per hour at 8.5 a.m. on Sunday morning, and the total rainfall for the 24 hours ending 10.30 a.m. on Sunday was 2.18 ins.

Five People Believed Drowned.

Five people are missing and believed to be drowned when an unlicensed Chinese junk, just coming into Hong Kong met the typhoon and was sunk.

The incident occurred at about 5 p.m. on Saturday evening when the wind was beginning to freshen. The vessel, had come down from Chinese territory with a cargo of pigs and bullocks and was some little distance off Shek-O when it got into difficulties. The people on the junk made a fight to right it but they could do nothing and the vessel eventually foundered.

Two of the crew of seven managed to cling onto the mast and were carried ashore. Of the others nothing has been seen or heard and it is feared that they have been drowned, and that the cargo of livestock has met with a like fate.

Minor Landslide.

Early yesterday evening a small landslide occurred in Sookimpo Valley near the Church of Christ in China. The fall of mud was not great and some of it has been washed by the rain into the nullah and carried away.

Two Chinese were passing at the time of the slide and they had a somewhat narrow escape from being hurt by the few rocks that accompanied the fall. One of them, a woman, was struck on the arm by a piece of rock and thrown to the ground, but got off with a small bruise.

TOKYO'S AIR MANOEUVRES

TEACHING THE POPULACE
AIRMINDEDNESS

Tokyo.—From 8 a.m. on August 9 till 7 a.m. on August 11, the 5,000,000 citizens of Greater Tokyo will experience something of the people of London or Paris during the War years, when air raids were the order of the day.

The morning of August 9 will see the commencement of air defence manoeuvres, for which preparations have been under way ever since January, on an unprecedentedly large scale over a circular area of 150 kilometres' radius with Tokyo as its centre.

Some fifty machines in all, including light and heavy bombers and fighters, will compose the attacking force, which will consist of one squadron of Army planes supported by naval machines from an aircraft carrier lying out to sea. For the defence of the city, the Shimoshima and Tokorozama military aviation schools will provide a total of thirty fighting planes organised into three air companies, while the ground defence will include 32 A.A. guns, 22 searchlights, and 22 aircraft detectors. It is expected that a certain number of civilian aircraft will co-operate with the Army planes in the defence of the Capital, though this is not, as yet, certain.

Sounding the Alarm.

Alarms will be sounded by means of sirens, steam whistles, fire bells, fire works, and radio, so that the civil populace will know when to extinguish lights, including the brilliant neon-electric sign boards so popular now in Tokyo, street lights, and all other illuminations, and to cover the headlights of vehicles. The services of Army reservists, fire brigades, and young men's associations throughout the area of operations will be utilised in various ways under the direction of 200 Army officers specially selected for the task, and everyone will be requested to co-operate to the best of his or her ability in order to ensure the success of the manoeuvres.

Stirring Up Interest.

The primary object is, in fact, to show the vast civil population of Tokyo what to do in the event of an air raid or similar emergency, and to make them more air-minded. As a preliminary, therefore, the city has been divided up into a number of sections and areas, with committees of ex-servicemen and others in charge of each. By means of lectures, pamphlets, demonstrations, and so forth, these committees are doing their utmost to stir up the necessary interest and enthusiasm among the citizenry of their respective areas, and are responsible for seeing that every man, woman, and child will know exactly what to do and how and why to do it when the great day comes and the exercises commence.

Less Tractable.

Similar exercises on a smaller scale have been carried out during the past few months in Seoul, Mukden, Taihoku (Formosa), and in several of the larger cities of Japan; but although Osaka and other important centres have, in recent years, been selected for special exercises in air defence, the military authorities frankly admit they have never before dared to suggest that the Capital City of the Japanese Empire should be put to such a test. The populace in the provincial cities of Japan, they explain, are always willing to fall in with suggestions emanating from the central authorities. Not so the heterogeneous people composing the millions of Tokyo. They are far less tractable and docile, and in normal times would never agree to put up with the inconveniences attendant on air defence exercises. Thanks, however, to the outbreak of the Manchurian trouble, even the normally stubborn and unimaginative citizens of Tokyo have now been brought to what the Army considers "a proper frame of mind."

"RECRUITS" JUMP OVER BOARD

REFUGEES FROM CHINESE
TROOP SHIP

Another incident of Chinese coolies "being tricked into joining the Army" was made known in the Police reports on Saturday morning. That at least is their story, of which the other side is probably that they are merely deserters.

The Asiatic Petroleum Oil tanker Sumatra, while on one of her ordinary trips passed a Chinese merchant ship flying the Chinese flag about 11 miles west of Green Island. (Continued at foot of next column)

IN CONFUCIUS COUNTRY

Ancient & Unchanged
City

BUT MODERN FORMS OF TRANSPORT

(From Our Own Correspondent)

July 19.
Travelling in the interior of China is being greatly simplified by the existence of the "China Travel Service." This agency, with offices in nearly all of the larger cities, plans itineraries, arranges for you to see the greatest number of interesting places at a minimum of expense and bother.

From Peiping carts to modern express trains, from wheelbarrows to airplanes, from junks to ocean liners, from rickshaws to motor-cars. Nowhere else on earth has such an evolution in transportation taken place so rapidly!

Confucius' Province.

The Province of Shantung has been spoken of as the "Holy Land" of China. In this province Confucius was born. Shantung too, is the birth place of Mencius. Not very far from the villages where these two Sages lie enshrined is the rugged mountain of "Tai Shan," most venerated of China's sacred mountains. This mountain is supposed to be the oldest place of worship in the world.

From the Station Tainanfu the ascent to the top of Tai Shan can be made in about six hours. The tourist sits fairly comfortably in a rude hammock called a mountain chair and is carried by two coolies. A third coolie must be hired to take turns with the other two. The coolies generally walk abreast instead of one ahead and one behind. The descent is made in about two hours.

The top of Tai Shan is about 5,000 feet above sea level. As the chair coolies ascend the thousands of stone steps, the traveller is impressed by the rugged grandeur and natural beauty of rocks and trees and flowers. The view from the top-looking over the plain of Shantung and over the lower mountain tops well repays the time, in ascending this ancient mountain where untold numbers of pilgrims have climbed to worship.

An Historic City.

Two hours on the Blue Express will take one from Tainanfu South to "Chufou," the station nearest to the ancient city which is the birthplace of Confucius. The old city is about six miles from the station in a South-easterly direction. One is left to wonder why the National Government of China, or the National Society organized to perpetuate the memory of China's great teacher have not done something to make it easier for tourists to visit the home and temple and tomb of Confucius. That tourists should be submitted in this age to the discomforts of riding six miles in a Peiping cart over roads with ruts both deep and rough, is difficult to understand.

Worthy memorials have been erected to the memory of Confucius—a great temple with carved granite pillars, and a tomb in a great natural setting of avenues of cedar trees. Near the temple is the old well of Confucius, and part of an old tree which is supposed to have flourished during his life-time. The monument which marks his home is also there. The tomb is in a vast walled area to the north of the old city. The whole place being enclosed by a very high wall. Inside are avenues of old cedar trees leading to the tomb.

If a good motor road were built from the station to this ancient city, supposed to date back 3,000 years, many more tourists would no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the historic spot.

Where Nothing Changes.

"Chufou is picturesque, full of creaking wheelbarrows, rattling two-wheeled carts, straw-roofed adobe houses, plying labourers and sun-baked urdians clothed in nothing but smiles. Scarcely anything has changed since the day, in 552 B.C., when the Sage was born here."

Island. As the vessel crossed the Sumatra's bow two men who jumped overboard and began swimming away were fired on with revolvers and rifles. They were luckily able to escape unhurt. The Chinese vessel then steered for the open sea. The men were rescued by the Sumatra and were taken to Bay View Police Station. They said they had been tricked aboard the vessel at Canton on the pretext that it was bound for Fukien. Later they found they had been recruited for the Army and when the ship was nearing Green Island they saw their chance for escape and jumped overboard.

BRITISH COMMERCE ON THE MEND

It would be a pity if the very natural and proper attention that has been given to the World Monetary and Economic Conference were to cause people to lose sight of the progress now being made throughout the world of the natural forces of recuperation. In Great Britain there are for the discerning many signs of recovery in trade. Among them are the better figures for overseas trade; the improvement in output of the iron and steel industry; the building of new factories; the decline in the figures for unemployment; more favourable reports at company meetings; and, a very significant pointer, the better showing of railway "traffic." Some of the statistics on which one may base a reasoned optimism will be given here.

The returns of overseas trade in May this year show that imports increased by 2.2 per cent. and exports 1.8 per cent. as compared with May, 1932. Strict comparison between the two months is, however, not possible; for last May had two more working days than in the same month of 1932. A feature of the returns for the first five months of this year is the relative improvement in export trade as compared with imports. In this period the visible adverse balance of trade was £100 millions, as compared with £120 millions in 1932 and £149 millions in 1931. Both exports and imports of manufactured goods were higher than in May 1932. Among exports of manufactured goods, the increase was most marked in electrical goods, woolen and worsted goods, mo-torcars and parts, and iron and steel goods.

The improvement in exports and production of iron and steel goods is specially notable. In May, 1932, 151,325 tons of iron and steel were exported; in May of this year the quantity was 178,639 tons. This is an improvement of 18 per cent. As to value, the increase was 15.8 per cent. The rise in exports was accompanied by a fall in imports, of 41 per cent. in quantity and 24.4 per cent. in value, showing how greatly the face of the industry has been changed by the recently imposed tariffs. This change is, also reflected in the figures for production of iron and steel since the beginning of this year. In December last the output of pig iron was 284,500 tons and of steel ingots and castings, 430,400 tons. In May this year these figures were respectively 339,900 tons and 599,600 tons. When it is recalled that the average monthly output in 1932 for these goods was respectively 297,800 tons and 438,100 tons it will be appreciated that a considerable change has taken place in the fortunes of this industry. One must go back to 1930 to find a monthly average (610,500 tons) which exceeded the output of steel castings and ingots in May last.

During the past twelve months no fewer than 640 new factories were opened in Great Britain and during the same period 166 extensions to factories were made. Of these new concerns 122 were of foreign origin, another testimony to the effect of the new tariff policy of Great Britain. Against the number of new factories must be set the closing of 355 existing factories. But the net increase of 285 new factories is an indication of a general upturn in business.

In these days of technological unemployment, i.e., unemployment caused by men being displaced by machinery, one must not place too much emphasis on the returns of employment as a guide to trade. There is, nevertheless, some connection between the two sets of figures. It is, therefore, well to state that the improvement in employment, which has been recorded monthly since January last was continued at an accelerated rate in May. At the end of January there were 9,285,000 insured persons in employment; in May this figure had been increased by 372,000 to 9,657,000. During the same four months the number of registered unemployed has declined by over

A huge throng assembled at the wharf where, amid a most impressive ceremony, the body was transferred to the cruiser Hiaro which departed for Japan at 9 p.m.

WAR MATERIAL IN AUSTRIA

All Returned To Italy

LONDON, July 29. BRITISH VESSEL DETAINED

REVOLVER SMUGGLING BY CHINESE

TOKYO, July 29. IT is reported from Dairen that the British vessel "Glenogle," 9,513 tons, was ordered to be detained outside the port this afternoon as the result of a confession by members of the Chinese crew, that there was a large quantity of contraband arms and ammunition aboard the vessel. The smugglers when arrested had with them 184 revolvers and 16,400 rounds of ammunition.—Reuter.

PARLIAMENT RISES FOR RECESS

LONDON, July 29. PARLIAMENT rose to-day for the summer recess, and unless members are recalled for any special reason, it will not reassemble until November 7. The Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, leaves to-day by air for Looismouth, where he will spend the first part of his holiday.—British Wireless Service.

CHANG WATCHES TENNIS FINALS

PARIS, July 29. MARSHAL Chang Hsueh Liang inspected the aerial defences of Paris yesterday morning and later lunched with the Chinese Ambassador to Paris, Dr. Wellington Koo, and the Chinese Finance Minister, Mr. T. V. Soong. In the afternoon, he watched the Davis Cup games.—Reuter.

320,000. A large contribution to the increase of employment has been made by the building industry, but every important branch of industry was doing better in May than in many preceding months.

To complete our survey we will quote the railway "traffics" for this year. These are the figures for the money taken each week by the four great railway systems of the country. They are both for passenger and goods traffic and are gross figures, that is, for the "take" only. The "Big Four" companies are still showing slight decreases against the corresponding week of 1932, but the falls are now quite small. Those who keep a close watch on the trend of traffics are confident that the companies' fortunes are now slowly on the mend. The position may be set out thus. It is understood that there is a decline each week over the figure for the "take" in the corresponding week a twelve-month before. The average weekly decline this year is given for the month of January, for February, and for the period March-April-May. The figures are in thousands of pounds. Beginning with the largest railway, the L.M.S., the relative figures are £88, £73, £48. The L.N.E.R. figures are £92, £49, £36. The Great Western Railway figures declined thus: £42, £32, £20. The Southern Railway is primarily a passenger-carrying line. Here the figures are £20, £14, and £7. The traffics for June are not yet complete, but such as they are they tell a still more cheerful story.

Lost His Nerve.

There was one delegate, a bartender, who looked like being a promising customer. He started off well by consuming half a bottle of rum each morning "as a bracer." But something apparently shook his nerve. On the third morning he took 20 lemonade, and remained faithful to it ever after.

The Paston Letters.

Lord Riddell's effort to raise £3,000 for the national purchase of the remainder of the Paston Letters should command success. They are as important to students of late mediaeval English history as the renowned Luttrell Psalter to lovers of an earlier period.

Many are by, or about, Sir John Fastolf, the 15th century prototype of Shakespeare's blustering knight, and in one of the brave words occur: "And, if they will not dread nor obey that, then they shall be quit by Blackbeard or Whitebeard, that is to say, by God or the Devil."

No wonder that Shakespeare should cause Prince Henry to dub his Falstaff "that old white-bearded Satan!"

The Roger Fry Exhibition.

Mr. Roger Fry has, in his exhibition at Messrs. Agnew's galleries, which opens on July 11, plunged himself into things Greek.

A visitor thus describes it:—In a room cool with electric fans, I gazed, early this morning, on views of the Temple of Zeus Olympios and of Delphi, which I remember as a forbidding spot. Mr. Fry has looked upon it in more kindly mood, and the olive trees and the sun make it less grim.

Athens and the Piræus (from the Acropolis) are other characteristic landscapes, and there is a fine still life, also with a classical flavour, that it includes a statue of a Greek athlete. There are only two portraits in the whole exhibition, and in them the artist seems to have adopted quite a new method, for they are academic, even Royal Academic, in their smooth neatness. That of Sir James Currie has about it a startling suggestion of the late John Redmond.

Mr. Augustine Birrell, lounging back with a blue-green tie and an expression of philosophic calm, looks less Thackerayan than usual. The treatment of the hands is masterly.

Conference Drinks.

In one direction the World Economic Conference was an undoubted failure—in the matter of the consumption of drinks.

Alas, for the marvellous list of drinks from every country under the sun which was to have made every delegate feel at home.

Lemonade and orange squash have been the favourites; and of the imposing array of national wines that were gathered together for the Conference scarcely more than four half-bottles have been consumed by delegates themselves.

LE TOUQUET IN ONE HOUR

THE PRINCE'S AERIAL VISIT

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, July 11.

The Prince of Wales has spent this week-end at Le Touquet, and has taken part in the golf competitions of the Bucks' Club. The smaller of his two aeroplanes arrived at Berck aerodrome on Friday evening with luggage and attendants, and then returned to London in readiness for the Prince's flight on Saturday. His visit may be said to mark the opening of the summer season at this resort, and his mode of travel the modern way of reaching the seaside place which combines so many advantages.

Comfortably Made.

By air, Berck is just an hour's journey from Croydon, and the traveller can arrive at his hotel in Le Touquet within two and a half hours of leaving his home in London. A visit of this sort has just been made by a party whose members spent 24 hours in Le Touquet and only 27 hours out of London. In one of the Heracles liners of Imperial Airways, which on certain days serve Berck, the journey was most comfortably made. In the airy, quiet saloons tea was served on the outward journey, and an elaborate four-course dinner on the return. Luggage, surrendered to the company at the start in either direction, was no further trouble to the traveller (except for a few minutes at the Customs examination) until he claimed it from the omnibus at the end of the journey.

An Attractive Place.

With an easy means of travel the attractions of Le Touquet may be advanced without reservation. Its character is almost unique in France. No other place seems to combine so successfully the simplicity of the sand dunes and the undeveloped place with the magnificence of the casino and the opulence of the golf club which has three courses; the quaintness of narrow streets and small shops with the grandeur of a new town hall in fifteenth-century Norman style and the decoration of a semi-circular covered market. Le Touquet seems to have spent most of the money its prosperity has brought in delightful buildings and in town planning. Part of the old town remains; all the rest has been beautifully laid out and equipped.

A breezy day on the front becomes calm and sheltered in the "forest" five minutes' walk away. When the tide is out bathing may be had in the fine swimming pool in the centre of the front. There are hotels of every class, including some of the luxury type, a very good racecourse and a tennis club with many courts. In the slack years of depression the town has preserved its character and its reputation for entertaining those who seek entertainment. It now looks forward to resuming its close contact with this country.

His Secrets.

His reminiscences might be worth a fortune—but they will never be written.

But there are two stories Inspector Humphries might tell. Before he was appointed to the command of A Division he was concerned in two prominent murder investigations.

He arrested Lieut.-Colonel Norman Rutherford for the murder of Major Miles Charles Seton at Holland Park in 1919. He also solved the murder of William Whiteley, the big London store magnate.

Why was the leading lady so annoyed after the performance? She got four bouquets. "Yes but she had paid for five."

CHINA'S FUTURE INTERNAL POLICY

GEN. CHIANG AND WANG CHING
WEI ISSUE MANIFESTO

INTERNAL PEACE AND SECURITY
NECESSARY FOR GOOD OF COUNTRY

Nanking, July 29.

China's internal diplomatic issues are dealt with in a joint telegram issued by Marshal Chiang Kai Shek and the President of the Executive Yuan, Mr. Wang Ching Wei, from Kuling, appealing to the nation for solidarity and disclaiming the intention to resort to force for the solution of political issues, and finally outlining the four essential conditions for the settlement of the Charhar problem.

The telegram begins by emphasising the necessity to enhance the productive power of the Chinese people in order to avert a breakdown in rural economy, and to bring industry to a more advanced stage.

THE BANDIT MENACE

Referring to the rampancy of banditry and Communism, the telegram declares that these twin evils have not only deprived the Chinese people of peaceful living, but have also affected all the Government's plans, including the national defence schemes.

The Government are, therefore, making every effort to terminate the bandit menace within the shortest possible period, and meanwhile, they are devoting serious attention to the improvement of the administrative system and the enforcement of military discipline with a view to safeguarding the lives and property of the people.

AMERICAN LOAN

The proceeds of the American wheat and cotton loan are to be employed for constructive purposes, and on no occasion are they to be diverted to military expenses.

Referring to foreign relations, the telegram states that the Government will adhere strictly to its oft-repeated declaration that it will not sign any agreement ceding territories or recognising the fruits of aggression.

If it is called upon to depart from this stand, the Government will be prepared to make whatever sacrifice is necessary.

PEACE ESSENTIAL

Continuing the telegram states that China desires international sympathy and technical co-operation, but that she does not believe in entangling alliances tending to disturb peace.

"We are firmly convinced that internal peace and international security are essential to building up our country, and we shall strive our utmost to realise these requisites," it states.

The telegram then appeals for national unity in thought and action, and significantly states, "We not only refuse to talk about resorting to force to settle internal questions but are pained at hearing such talk."

It cites the imbroglio in Charhar as an indication of the Government's attitude, and gives the following four conditions for settlement of the problem.

CHARHAR SETTLEMENT CONDITIONS

Firstly, General Feng Yu Hsiang must not create military posts and titles leading to the separation of Charhar from China.

Secondly, he must not interfere with the Government's plans for the defence of the border of the province.

Thirdly, he must not recklessly incorporate bandits and irregulars in order to swell the number of his own followers, thereby jeopardising peace and order in Charhar.

Fourthly, he must not make use of Communist leaders, thus fostering the Red menace in North China.—Reuter.

DELEGATES LEAVE KULING

Nanking, July 30.

Wang Ching Wei left Kuling for Nanking this afternoon, according to Chen Yi, vice-Minister of War, who arrived here this morning from Kuling with Huang Mo Sung, Sinkiang Pacification Commissioner.

While both refuse to divulge details of the Kuling Conference on the ground they concern military secrets, it is reported that among the decisions there will be an experiment of stationing troops in China in accordance with divisional regimental districts.—Reuter.

YU HSUEH CHUNG NOT REQUIRED IN KULING

Peiping, July 29.

Yu Hsueh Chung, arriving from Tientsin to-day to attend a meeting of the North China War District Relief Commission, says that he has postponed his trip to Kuling indefinitely on telegraphic instructions from General Chiang Kai Shek who desires him to remain in North China during the present crisis.—Reuter.

SITUATION IN CHARHAR

SOUTH-WEST LEADERS
PESSIMISTIC

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, July 30.

High South-west leaders are pessimistic about the Charhar situation despite the Kuling manifestation of peace and administrative improvement, because a telegram received here to-day from General Feng Yu Hsiang, commanding the People's Anti-Japanese Allied Forces in Charhar, stated that he would stand by his guns and would not yield to threats from Nanking and the Japanese.

Commenting on the joint telegram issued by General Chiang Kai Shek and Mr. Wang Ching Wei, a high official here remarked that both General Feng Yu Hsiang and authoritative sources in Moscow have denied any connection between the Charhar Chinese forces and Soviet Russia and that General Feng is quite willing to see the return of General Soong Cheh Yuan as Chairman of the Charhar Provincial Government as appointed by the Nanking Government.

The demand of Messrs. Chiang and Wang that Feng must not interfere with the Government's plans for the defence of the border of the (Charhar) province is ridiculous, this official said. "What General Feng and his troops have done is the recapture of Dolonor and other towns from the Japanese-Manchukuo troops. This is 'interference' in the opinion of Chiang and Wang, whose plan for the defence of the province means permission to let it be occupied by the enemy without resistance."

It is believed here, that instead of creating a favourable impression, the Chiang-Wang telegram tends to create a feeling that Nanking would not countenance any one to take up independent resistance of aggression and recovery of invaded provinces.

CHANG'S TOUR OF EUROPE

STUDYING MODERN MILITARY DEVELOPMENT

Paris, July 30.

Aviation is claiming Chang Hsueh Liang's closest attention during his European tour where he is studying modern military development.

The "Young" Marshal when interviewed by Reuter praised Mussolini for his courtesy which enabled him to appreciate the giant strides made in the Italian Air-arm. The French Government had also allowed him to visit aeroplanes factories, to see tank manoeuvres and night flying.

Marshal Chang leaves for England to-morrow to "learn fresh lessons," after which he will visit Germany.

On the political side, Chang is particularly investigating vigorous movements like Fascism and Communism. He is convinced that China, in due course, will evolve a system of constitutional government, possibly through some form of provincial autonomy, but China's real problem is economic.

Chang to-day had breakfast with T. V. Soong, the latter afterwards leaving for Cherbourg, en route to China, via Canada. An unprejudiced gathering of Chinese diplomats met to say farewell to Mr. Soong, yesterday, comprising of Dr. Koo, Mr. Quo Tai Chi, Dr. Yen and the Chinese Ministers to Spain, Holland and Switzerland.—Reuter.

THE LUANTUNG DISTRICTS

NOW UNDER CHINESE CONTROL

Peiping, July 29.

Though official confirmation is lacking most reliable Chinese reports from Tongsan state that Linyu was taken over by the Chinese authorities at noon to-day and, with the exception of Chinan and Luling where bandits are very active, all districts in the Luantung area are now under the control of Chinese authorities.

The retrocession of districts to the North of Peiping started this morning when the magistrates for the districts of Miyun, Huaiju and Kihien left Peiping by motor accompanied by a hundred members of the special police. The Japanese garrison at Miyun is expected to withdraw to the Great Wall within a few days.—Reuter.

SUPPRESSION OF BANDITS

CHEN ASKED TO LEAD
FORCES

NANKING, July 29.

AN unconfirmed report from Chinese sources says that Marshal Chiang Kai Shek recently wired General Chen Min Shu in Hong Kong asking him to assume command of the eastern route bandit suppression forces.

Mr. Sun Fo, hastily recalled from this holiday in Tangtiao, passed through Nanking this morning en route to Kiating by aeroplane, whence he will proceed to Kuling to join the discussions there.—Reuter.

Canton to send an army to reinforce the anti-Japanese allied forces.

The recapture of Dolonor has aroused the admiration and national spirit of the Chinese people, the telegram said. "The mobilization of Nanking troops to attack General Feng Yu Hsiang concerns not so much the general himself as the welfare of the country."

"We therefore urge you South-west leaders to send an army to aid General Feng Yu Hsiang and at the same time to awaken the Nanking authorities to a sense of error. With a small army, General Feng went far into distant places to fight the enemy and is therefore in need of assistance from the Southwest."

"The safety of the nation lies in your hands. We hope you will take prompt action to gratify the wishes of the people."—Central Press.

"BABY" TYPHOON VISITS CANTON

COOLS THE AIR: NO
DAMAGE DONE

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, July 30.

Coming as a needed relief from the past ten hot days, a mild typhoon heralded its arrival to-day by its howl and wind, while the Customs Flag Mast ran up a No. 3 typhoon signal indicating the "blow" will come from the North-east.

Sporadic rain during the day dampened the parched roofs and streets and helped to create a cool atmosphere congenial to a comfortable slumber to-night to the sleepless people who found their beds too hot during the past several nights.

Except puffing off pedestrians' hats and tearing down some window-panes, the baby cyclone did no damage in Canton.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS

BRITAIN BEATEN IN DOUBLES

Auteuil, July 29.

The substitution of H. G. N. Lee for Fred Perry made a virtual present of the doubles to France, Borotra and Brugnon winning in straight sets—6-3, 8-6 and 6-2.

The decision to play Lee was to rest Perry for his singles tie to-morrow as it was feared that if he had to take part in the doubles tie might overtax Perry's strength.

Borotra's brilliant overhead work was the decisive factor in the game while Brugnon, by skillful placements, made his opponents play into the hands of his more brilliant partner.

Hughes was responsible for some fine net-work, while his lobbing was beyond reproach, and while Lee's swerving service definitely bothered Borotra, he was, on the whole, not very impressive. His movements and thoughts were not swift enough to deal with such fast opposition.

The match only lasted an hour and to put the matter in a nutshell, the British pair were hopelessly outplayed. They led at 5-3 and 5-4 in the second set and they would have annexed this if Hughes had not taken a ball which would definitely have gone out.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

AUSTIN BEATEN

Auteuil, July 30.

The third day of the challenge round in the Davis Cup between France (holders) and Great Britain opened with the tennis community in a fever of excitement, for up to the end of the second day, Britain was leading by 2 games to 1.

Little wonder, therefore, that when Henri Cochet took the court against Bunny Austin, excitement was so intense that even the air seemed electrified.

The Frenchman had not hitherto been beaten by Austin. Would he live up to his reputation as Bunny's master? His supporters had something of a scare when he dropped the first set at 5-7, but he rallied in the second stanza and took it at 6-4. The third set again provided disappointment for the French people for Austin took it after it had gone ten games.

It was expected that the Englishman would win the match and thus give his country the much-coveted cup but Cochet asserted himself and took the next two sets, both at 6-4.

His win over England's No. 1 thus put the two countries on level terms and when he walked off the court, he was given the greatest ovation ever accorded a tennis star.

The scores in Cochet's favour were, 5-7, 8-4, 4-6, 6-4 and 6-4.—Reuter.

RAIL DISPUTE IN MANCHUKUO

ROLLING STOCK RELEASED:
MEN DETAINED

Harbin, July 30.

A representative of the Foreign Ministry visited M. Slavutsky to-day, and made a statement that Manchukuo had released the Ussuri rolling stock but was detaining the men as they were without documents.

M. Slavutsky pointed out that owing to existing arrangements, the Ussuri ballast trains may work on this section and it was not necessary for the crews to produce visas.

The Manchukuo representative countered by stating that no agreements and no arrangements exist permitting Ussuri trains or crews to work in Manchukuo territory. He added, that owing to M. Slavutsky not replying to the Manchukuo protest regarding the Tungshai incident, the Foreign Ministry were sending a representative to Hulin to investigate, as they were certain a Soviet gunboat had searched Tunshan.—Reuter.

NEW BANKNOTES FOR CANTON

TO BE BASED ON THE
"BIG DOLLAR"

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, July 30.

It is announced from semi-official sources that $10,000,000 worth of "big dollar" banknotes are being printed in the United States by the American Bank-note Company for circulation in Canton and Kwangtung province. The proposed adoption of this new currency at par with that of Shanghai and Nanking is to enable local merchants to secure a favourable exchange with American money or pound sterling.

Under existing system, a Canton merchant who wishes to remit, say, $100 to London has first to convert local currency into Hong Kong dollars which are again exchanged into British money. In this process Hong Kong dollars are in great demand with the result that their premium has gone as high as 50 per cent. This causes much hardship to Chinese merchants.

If Canton uses big dollars, they can be changed direct into foreign money without utilizing Hong Kong money as a medium. This system of exchange is possible in Shanghai, Hankow, Tientsin, etc.

These new big dollar banknotes are to be circulated by the Kwangtung Provincial Bank which shall have at least $4,000,000 big dollar coins as reserve before the new issues will enjoy public confidence.

The Provincial Department of Finance has authorised this Bank to issue banknotes of $5 denomination for immediate circulation as an addition to their present notes of $10 and $1 denominations already in the market.

BLOCKADING THE COMMUNISTS

GEN. CHEN CHI TANG'S
APPEAL FOR COOPERATION

CANTON, July 29.

General Chen Chi Tang, commander-in-chief of the anti-Communist south route expedition, has ordered a blockade of the fled districts in southern Kiangsi in order to prevent foodstuffs reaching the famished Communists. This plan is to bring about an early capitulation in view of the fact that they are short of supplies.

Public bodies in southern Kiangsi are asked to cooperate with the military authorities in preventing provisions from going into the Red areas. This step is necessary, because military force alone is not adequate to isolate the Communist areas from the outside world.

Lieutenant-General Chang Mei Hsin, commanding the fourth division of the first Kwangtung army, is making preparations to call a plenary military meeting to discuss anti-Communist plans. The Cantonese forces having captured An Yuan, Chung Shih and Pan Shih, are ready to storm Kwanmuling where the main Cantonese forces will be concentrated. From there a combined push will be launched into Juichin, the stronghold of the Communists.—Central Press.

WEATHER

St. John's NEWFOUNDLAND,

July 29.

THE return flight across the Atlantic of the Italian Air Armada, under the command of Gen. Balbo, has been postponed indefinitely owing to unfavourable weather.

An earlier cable from St. John's yesterday stated that General Balbo had reverted to his intention to lead his Air Armada via Valentia, Ireland, on their homeward flight. He had expected to start at 8 a.m. on Saturday.

The Armada, which completed the first stage of the greatest mass flight in history when they reached Chicago on July 13, has been making a few days' halt in Newfoundland before taking the northern route across the Atlantic.

Previously it was announced that they would fly by way of Valentia, Ireland, and then visit several European capitals before returning to Orbetello, their Italian base.—Reuter.

JACK HOBBS NEARING HIS TWO HUNDRED CENTURIES

LANCASHIRE SKIPPER'S SUCCESSFUL GAMBLE

London, July 28.

Despite the fact that several good scores were returned during the mid-week cricket season, the superiority of the ball over bat was emphasised, just by way of a change.

Lancashire were fortunate in scoring a 7-run win over Hampshire and their victory was attributed to the good captaincy of P. T. Eekersley who took a bold step in declaring his second innings closed at 146 for 5.

Jack Hobbs figured amongst the batsmen who entered the land of the magical three figures. He now has 195 hundreds to his credit and as he is playing very well just now, it seems decidedly likely that he will complete his 200 centuries before the season is out.

"TICH" FREEMAN IN FINE FORM

There was a thrilling finish to Lancashire's game with Hampshire. The Northerners with their eye on the clock took a sporting chance of declaring the second innings closed at 146 for 5. This left Hampshire to score 218 to win, and the men from the South almost accomplished the task, losing by seven runs only.

Hampshire went all out to get the runs in the time, but they found the bowling of Sibbles too accurate to permit of liberties being taken with it. Sibbles took 6 wickets for 59 runs.

Philip Mead, the veteran left hander added another three-figure innings to his list.

E. Tyldesley was prominent in Lancashire's first innings hitting up 155.

Another century by Jack Hobbs—his 195th—was mainly responsible for Surrey's defeat of Somerset.

Gover first dismissed Somerset for 133, capturing 5 for 52, and with Hobbs rattling up 117, Surrey were able to obtain a big lead, totalling 326.

Somerset got on top of the Etonians' attack in their second venture and compiled 324.

Surrey tackled their task of scoring 134 runs with the utmost confidence, and they were obtained for the loss of four wickets.

Woolley's Innings.

Frank Woolley—the pride of Kent—is to all intents and purposes staging a "come-back." He took 131 off the Leicester bowling and in no small measure helped his side to win by 176 runs.

But Freeman was really the hero of the match. Bowling with his usual skill, he had the Leicester men puzzled in both of their visits to the wicket. His first figures were 6 for 87, but he improved on these in the second taking 7 for 41.

Bowlers on Top.

Bowlers predominated in the Sussex v. Derbyshire match, four enjoying successes. Sussex won quite easily, after being sent back for 202 in the first knock. They improved on the return and topped the 300 mark. Derby were all at sea and were dismissed for 190 and 152. Cornford (5 for 26) and Bowley (4 for 34) for Sussex, and Copson (5 for 54) and Pope (7 for 84) for Derby were the outstanding bowlers.

Tourists Win.

Brilliant bowling by a young Minor Counties player featured the game in which the West Indies beat Northumberland by an innings.

In face of a score of 440, Allan captured 6 wickets for 38 runs—a remarkable achievement.

BOWLING GREEN BEATS KOWLOON DOCK

TWO LEAGUE GAMES POSTPONED OWING TO TYPHOON

ELECTRIC R.C. WINS FROM POLICE

There were two postponements on Saturday owing to the inclemency of the weather, the match between the Craignower and the Kowloon Cricket Club having to be left off with the Champions leading by two points with less than half the game finished.

The Bowling Green made certain of remaining in the race for league leadership by defeating Kowloon Dock. The Civil Service accounted for Reccio, as was anticipated, and the Police, playing at home, won from Tai-koo. In the junior division, the results were very much as anticipated perhaps the only surprise being the somewhat heavy defeat of the Police at the Electric R.C.'s ground.

No. 13 PROVES UNLUCKY

Nish did all the damage against the Dock in the Bowling Green-Kowloon Dock match. His rink scored a 11 points victory over Cullen's while on the other two rinks, the Bowling Green drew in one and lost by a single shot in the other.

The feature of the match between the Civil Service and Club de Reccio was the victory of R. P. Phillips' team over that of R. F. Luz. The latter was all in pieces on Saturday and could make no headway against Phillips. The Reccio won on the remaining two rinks.

In the match between the Police and Tai-koo the number "13" splot doomed on all three rinks. J. C. Chalmers playing against W. Mair's rink found himself stuck at 13. N. Drummond's rink stuck at 13 to allow Moss' four to go ahead and score up 32. Wotherspoon was the only Tai-koo skip to win and his opponent W. E. Hollands was stuck at 13 and could not shift out.

Drake's rink did most of the damage for the Bowling Green Juniors against Civil Service, and his four men finished up 31-14 ahead of Eccleshall's team.

Craignower juniors would have been hard put to it had not Field come along with a 17 shot victory to give them full points. In one rink they were down by 7 shots while in the remaining rink they only led by a single.

Muskett's four took 11 points from Glendenning's men in the Electric-Police match and was mainly responsible for the former's victory at North Point.

MARLENE'S NEW PART

AS FIFTH WIFE OF
HENRY VIII.

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, July 11.
Marlene Dietrich may star with Charles Laughton.

That is to-day's sensation in film-land—the Blonde Venus tugging at the beard of "Henry VIII." But that is not all. Marlene Dietrich may appear with Charles Laughton in an American version of "Henry VIII." to be made by Paramount. It is planned to cast her as Katherine Howard, Henry VIII's fifth wife—a very important figure in the matrimonial galas of the period.

All this is because a British company, London Film Productions, have just completed "The Private Life of Henry VIII." at Elstree. The production has caught the imagination of America, which is now all-British in its movie outlook, and when Paramount heard about it they decided to team Charles Laughton and Marlene Dietrich in a similar story.

The announcement came as a bomb-shell in the British talkie camp. Two Henrys the Eighth would ruin the market in talkie queens.

When Alexander Korda, who has just finished "Henry VIII," heard about this, he telephoned Charles Laughton in New York, but Charles was already half-way to Chicago, en route for Hollywood.

"Get me the train to Chicago as once," said Mr. Korda, "and tell them I want to speak to Mr. Laughton."

When told he was to be King Henry again, Charles was completely taken aback.

"That's the first I've heard of it," he said. "But I'm not going to wear that confounded beard again—not for £100,000."

But it also happens that Mr. Laughton has a clause in his contract with the London company forbidding him to appear in the same subject again for three years.

And Marlene Dietrich is in Germany, and apparently has no idea she is going back to Hollywood to be executed.

The piquant part of the situation is that Paramount were offered the story of Henry VIII. four months ago and refused it.

WOODIN MAY RESIGN

ILL HEALTH AND MORGAN PROBE

WASHINGTON, July 23.
Despite denials, it was believed to-day in circles close to the administration that Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin will resign before fall.

Some attribute the report to his health, while others say that the disclosures of the Senate inquiry into affairs of the House of Morgan were behind the report.

Woodin, it was revealed at the hearings, was on a list of important persons who were privileged to buy certain stocks from the firm of J. P. Morgan and Company below the market price.

At that time a demand was made in Congress that Woodin resign. Woodin talked it over with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and thereafter said whether he would resign or not was a matter of discretion for the President.

Some of those mentioned as possible successors were:

Senator James Couzens, Republican, Michigan, whom Roosevelt sent to the world economic conference in London.

Joseph J. Kennedy, Boston banker and strong supporter of Roosevelt during the campaign.

Frank Walker, Democratic national treasurer.

Pollman Porter: "Beg your pardon, sir, but the dollar you gave me last night had a hole in it."

Traveler: "So did the blanket you gave me last night."—Grit.

CABARETS IN KOWLOON

LET THEM LEAVE RESIDENTIAL AREAS

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

The cabarets in Kowloon seem to come in for more attention than the ones in Hong Kong. The reason is not hard to seek for all these establishments in the peninsula, or nearly all of them, are in the residential sections and as a result, those living around and about these dance halls have to put up with a lot of noise night in and night out.

While I am definitely not of the opinion that dance music is an annoying sort of noise, I can see why the people who have to put up with practically the same tunes for weeks on end resent it. With all respects to these dance halls, they do not vary their "programme" very much. The band goes through the same number of tunes every night and only once in a while is there any change. Why that should be, one cannot tell for it would be expected that as many changes as possible would be the thing to please clients.

Should Be Removed.

The residents who have to put up with this deserve all the sympathy they can get, but if the Police allow these establishments to carry on business until midnight, what is there to be done? Either the cabarets have to move out or the residents have to go and as the latter are in the majority, it would seem that there can be only one step. Let us then come to the non-residential quarters in Kowloon. Is there any such thing?

Nathan Road, between the Peninsula Hotel and Austin Road is to Kowloon what the "town" is to Hong Kong, but whereas there are no residences in the town section of Hong Kong, the same cannot be said of Kowloon, with its flats over every shop, which makes it very hard for the cabarets.

"Live and let live" is an age-old saying and no reasonable person would willingly go against it. If these cabarets were to close down, the people engaged in them would be in a very sorry state. Besides the girls that are the musicians, the "boys" and many others. At present the girls find dancing for a living a comparatively easy job

although it must, at times, be very boring and tiresome. If there were no cabarets, they would very probably have to resort to some other means of making a livelihood which may be even more arduous to them. But just because they are allowed to carry on, there is no reason why these cabarets should be a nuisance. Perhaps it would be a good thing if these establishments did find some more appropriate place to carry on business. What I mean is that there are certainly places in Kowloon which are not as crowded as Nathan Road and Hankow Road with apartment flats, and if they could go to some more secluded spots, it would be better for all concerned.

Although it would be drifting from a subject that is essentially Kowloon, I would like to mention some of the Hong Kong cabarets, and the locality in which they are situated, just for the sake of comparison. Two of them are in Queen's Road Central and another two in Des Voeux Road. They cannot be a great nuisance to the public for the noise made by their orchestras—I believe that is what is so strenuously objected to—is slight as compared to the noises made by the tram cars or the buses. These trams and buses run until well past midnight and even if there were no cabarets, there would still be a certain amount of noise.

Again the cabarets in Hong Kong are in the business centre and at nights even the most conscientious worker has left his desk, so that the bands do not disturb anybody. It will perhaps have been noticed that while so many complaints have been directed at the Kowloon cabarets, the Hong Kong establishments have thus far escaped particular attention and the only reason I can give for this is because they are far away from private dwellings. Let the Kowloon ones then, move to more convenient places, for until they do so, one fears that there will never be an end to the numerous complaints against them.

News in Brief

The P.W.D. invite tenders for the Kowloon Tong Permanent Nullah Training.

A meeting of property-owners and tenants of premises in Kowloon will be held at the Peninsula Hotel, Kowloon, to-morrow (Tuesday), at 5.30 p.m., to support the protest that is to be presented to the Governor-in-Council in regard to the Kowloon coal dump.

For keeping a large number of chickens in a small coop, a boatman was brought before Mr. Butters, at Kowloon Magistracy, on Saturday on a charge of cruelty to the birds. He pleaded ignorance of the law and was discharged with a caution.

Mrs. F. H. Holdman, wife of the late Assistant Superintendent of Mails, left Hong Kong for England by the s.s. Ranpura.

The common English sparrow is a smart bird. We have a colony hanging around the Court House yard that earns daily sustenance by picking insects from the radiators of parked cars. Just as soon as the machine comes to a stop, they go to work. And all of 'em—a dozen or more—are fat.—Glasgow Times.

CHURCH MENACED BY COMMUNISM

ARCHBISHOP OF YORK'S WARNING

The Archbishop of York described Communism as the most serious menace that had threatened the Church of England for hundreds of years.

He was addressing the York Diocesan Conference. "We are not," he said, "going to be able to resist this menace, terrible as it is, if we are only content to justify our present order of society."

"We must become critics of our own social order in the light of the principles we have inherited."

"The most serious point of concern is, I think, that this group of ideas has gained great hold over a considerable number of the students in many universities."

THE ARRIVAL OF GEN. TAM KAI SHOW

General Tam Kai Show, one of the senior officers of the 19th Route Army, arrived at Hong Kong from Fukien by the s.s. Sinkiang on Saturday, accompanied by some of his friends.

It was reported that he is on a political mission to the Canton Government.

Commander Tam will probably proceed to Canton to-day.

MANCHURIAN WAR CANARD

CONCENTRATION OF TROOPS
DENIED BY MOSCOW

Moscow, July 23.
The Soviet Foreign Office to-night issued an official denial of reports that Russian troops are being concentrated on the Manchurian border for a contemplated attack on Manchuria.

The reports originated at Manchuria, it was said here, and were spread around the world. It was pointed out that Japanese officials in Manchuria had previously said that no evidence had been found to support the rumours.

The reports are believed to have resulted from the deadlock in the Tokyo negotiations, looking to the sale of the Chinese Eastern Railway to Manchukuo.

The Soviet Government declared there have been no troop movements nor concentrations in that area and that the Government had no intention of seizing Manchuria. —United Press.

DISSATISFACTION IN TOKYOUCHIDA DIPLOMATIC POLICY
CRITICISED

Tokyo, July 24.
Dissatisfaction with the diplomatic policy of Count Yasuoka Uchida, the Foreign Minister, is evident among Foreign Office officials. It was said to-day. During the past four months since Japan's accession from the League of Nations, Japan has only concluded one arbitration treaty, namely, with Holland, and no positive action has been taken by the government in connection with the questions affecting America, Soviet Russia, and China, which lesser officials consider most important in Japan's diplomacy. The uneasy atmosphere surrounding Japan's relations with Soviet Russia and China remains as it was four months ago, three officials say, while the Foreign Office has not taken steps in the Anglo-Japanese situation despite the economic situation of Japan. —United Press.

"LOVE ON WHEELS"CLEVER AND AMUSING FARCE AT THE KING'S

"Love on Wheels" showing at the King's Theatre is like a very cheerful London revue, Jack Harker and Gordon Barker being in the lead. There is also a charming heroine in Leonora Corbett, who should certainly have been given more to do, for she acts, sings, and dances extraordinarily well.
The film is in the main broad farce, well done, especially in the finale when Gordon Barker is chased through a department store rather in the manner of the old Mack-Sennett comedies. There is also some rather sharp caricaturing of the Hollywood sub-stuff type of film. But for all that, one wishes British films would learn something of American efficiency in technique.
"Love on Wheels" has some quite original effects in a sort of dummy dumb-show manner which will no doubt be improved and developed. It also advances the idea of showing things through the eye of one of the actors.
The film is in fact an attractive mixture mainly farce to laugh at, but also some clever and original cinematographic effects.
A well arranged programme of music given by the band of the South Wales Borderers replaced the news reel and comic on Sunday, and was received with every sign of great enjoyment by the audience.

HERBERT MAR-SHALL AND EDNA
BEST

OFF TO HOLLYWOOD

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, July 11.
Mr. Herbert Marshall and his wife Miss Edna Best, left London to-day for Hollywood, where Mr. Marshall has a four months' film contract, leaving behind Sarah, their six-week-old baby.

Mr. Marshall told the "Evening Standard" at Waterloo Station. "It has not been easy for us to leave Sarah behind, but it is really in her interests. It would not be good for her to have the sudden change in surroundings and to have imposed upon her the strain of such a long journey."

"Miss Best has no film contract in America, although that does not mean that she will not work over there. I missed the ship on Wednesday, and my wife decided that she would like to come with me to-day."

"During our absence the baby will be looked after by Miss Best's mother in London. I am, of course, very pleased that my wife is coming with me."

Next Picture.

"I am doing a picture with the Paramount Company, in which I appear with Dorothea Wieck, who made such a brilliant success in the film 'Madchen in Uniform'. The film is called 'White Woman'."

Miss Best's mother, who carried with her a black Aberdeen terrier, saw her daughter and son-in-law off. There was a small crowd of friends present.

Mr. Marshall added that a four months' contract was just like a long weekend to his wife and himself, but if their stay promised to be longer than that they would either come back to fetch the baby or have it brought over by Mrs. Best and a nurse.

Although Miss Best had not signed up for a film yet, she has received an offer by transatlantic telephone.

This survey, as planned, will be made during the summer holidays and the starting point will be the Canton Railway Station.

The University Authorities have sent letters to the officials of the different railway stations and Mr. Chan will lodge at the stations if necessary while he is carrying out his task.

TRADE IN THE EMPIRE

Currency Problems

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE
CONGRESS

The Prime Minister has intimated that he will be unable to open the thirteenth congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire at Guildhall. His place will be taken by the Home Secretary (Sir John Gilmour). The congress, which is organized by the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, will be presided over by Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, M.P., president of the Federation. There are nearly 300 delegates, including four representatives of foreign countries and 18 honorary delegates.

A wide range of subjects affecting Empire commerce and industry will be considered by the congress, which will sit daily until Friday afternoon. Important reports will be submitted by the preparatory committees, which have been considering the subjects of monetary policy, Customs restrictions, and communications and transport. Sir Basil Blackett and Dr. W. H. Coates are the joint chairmen of the committee on monetary policy. In their conclusions, they suggest that there should be close co-operation between the currency authorities and the leaders of commerce and industry and the workers in order to secure the stability of internal prices and stability of the foreign exchanges.

A Reformed Gold Standard.

They consider that it is urgently necessary to avert the evil of competitive exchange depreciation by the institution of some system which will ensure exchange stability. In the present state of world opinion a reformed gold standard appears to be the most likely to prove generally acceptable. A reformed gold standard, they suggest, must be managed on an international basis. Should international agreement on a reformed gold standard prove impossible, Empire countries should systematize and develop their present paper currencies in the form of a sterling union. This union should be open to any other nations on their agreement to share in its obligations and responsibilities. While the revival of bimetalism is not regarded as a practicable proposal, the stabilization of the value of silver is a matter of high importance.

The congress will be invited to appoint committees to receive the reports of the preparatory committees and to formulate resolutions for submission to the plenary sessions on the subjects with which they deal.

The agenda contains a number of resolutions dealing with such subjects as the Imperial Conference, depreciated exchanges and dumping, commercial relations within the Empire, tourist traffic, Imperial air communications, cable regulations, and uniform food regulations. The council of the federation will submit a resolution urging that all possible assistance be given to facilitate the distribution and exhibition of British films, especially in the overseas parts of the Empire, in view of their unexampled potentialities in fostering and consolidating British aims and ideals.

Air Route to Australia.

On the subject of Imperial air communications, the London Chamber of Commerce have submitted a resolution in which they ask the Congress to impress on the Government the importance of completing the through route to Australia without further delay, to be followed as soon as possible by the creation of a feeder service to Hong Kong and Shanghai. With regard to the efforts to accelerate the air mail to India and South Africa, they consider that there can be no adequate solution of this problem until the air mail is operated on a 24-hour schedule, even if this involves the separation of passengers from mails and the equipment of the routes for night flying. The Council of the Federation, in a further resolution, suggest the establishment in London of a central Press bureau for the purpose of promoting Imperial trade and Imperial understanding by the dissemination of news and information.

Suggestions for the improvement of commercial relations within the Empire are made by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Stating that increasing taxation with falling revenues has been one of the major factors in depressing business conditions, they consider it would be wise for Governments to curtail public expenditures from current account in order that all Empire budgets may be put into balance at the earliest possible date, and in order that taxation, including that of a duplicatory nature, may be kept from rising and actually reduced. On the other hand, business would do well to refrain from asking the Governments to make financial outlays which cannot on every reasonable ground be justified.

HOME GOLF

British Open Title

CONVINCING WIN FOR SHUTE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, July 11.
The All-American tie in the British Open Championship at St. Andrews to-day was won by Deane Shute, of the Llanerch Country Club, in the play-off over thirty-six holes. He beat Craig Wood, of Hollywood, New Jersey, by five strokes, the respective scores being Shute 73 and 74 equals 147; Wood 78 and 79 equals 157.

Though the shorter driver, Shute was the more accurate player in all departments. Shute, who is twenty-eight years of age, is the descendant of a well-known golfing family of that name, of Westward Ho! Curiously enough, he lost the Ryder Cup match and won the championship for America.

Not more than 200 people were present when the two Americans began their struggle for the British title which has gone to the United States ten years in succession. When the two players holed their putts at the eighteenth the crowd had increased to 2,000. It is a different scene from the panting, excited crowds which had invaded the classic links during the previous days of the Championship.

In the main the spectators were students of style rather than partisans. Indeed, they did not particularly care who won. If there had been a British player in the play-off, Mitchell or Easterbrook, for example, it would have been quite a different story. The number of spectators would have been multiplied tenfold. It seemed a little incongruous, more especially on a Scottish links, that two Americans should be playing for a cup which appears to have taken up permanent residence across the Atlantic. There was a tie on the same links twelve years ago, but the players on that occasion were an Englishman, Roy Wedderburn, and an American, J. Hutchinson.

Try as he would, Craig Wood was unable to make any further impression, and as Shute holed his last putt the vast crowd gave him a cheer. Wood offered his congratulations, and then a solitary figure dashed from the crowd and embraced the winner. It was Shute's wife.

The figures for the last nine were:— Shute: 33 34 35 34 34 = 33. Total, 149.
Wood: 34 35 34 34 34 = 37. Total, 151.

LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 30.

The Golden Text was: "Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted" (Isa. 49:13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For the Lord's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance. He found him in a desert land, and in the waste howling wilderness; he led him about, he instructed him, kept him as the apple of his eye. As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings so the Lord alone did lead him, and there was no strange god with him" (Deut. 32:9-12). "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health": "Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "No form nor physical combination is adequate to represent infinite Love. Divine Love is infinite. Therefore all that really exists is in God, and manifests His love" (app. 256, 340).

Every teacher should ponder the remark of a five-year-old. In an intelligence test she was asked, "Are you a boy or a girl?" She looked the teacher squarely in the eye and solemnly replied, "Boy."

Later she told her mother, "When a person asks you a silly question, it's all right to give a silly answer."
